Legacy of Love

Wow, what an unexpected and chaotic turn of events we have experienced over the last several weeks. As I write to you, the economic, social and healthcare related impacts of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) are dominating our news cycles.

It has certainly changed the way everyone is conducting business, including the services we provide at West Texas Rehabilitation Center. Rather than choosing to focus on the anxiety generated by COVID-19, we are choosing to focus on what continues to make West Texas Rehab great...our patients, our employees and our community.

At West Texas Rehab, the health and well-being of these special folks are our top priority. We understand the concern and uncertainty people might be experiencing surrounding the Coronavirus. This is not the first time in our 67-year history that issues like COVID-19 have been a concern. We were founded as a fledgling organization in 1953 during the uncertainty surrounding the polio epidemic. We have been through the concerns surrounding 9/11 and terrorism threats every day since. We went through the worldwide concerns of the EBOLA outbreak and through the spread of the swine flu (H1N1). In each of these instances, we remained, and we continue to remain, steadfast in our mission of providing services to those who need us each and every day.

We are open for business. We are exercising caution, practicing prevention, and remaining diligent in protecting our employees and those we serve each day—but we are open for business. We are also focusing on the blessing we have of serving others, the miracles we get to experience each day, the knowledge that a higher power is at work in our world, and the hope that this too shall pass.

We have had to cancel two fundraising events at this time and are in the process of rescheduling several others to comply with restrictions currently being placed on our organizations and local businesses. Obtaining supplies for these events has also become more difficult. Please check our website often, under the Events tab at the top of the page, to find out where and when your favorite West Texas Rehab events will be held. When these events do occur, we believe all of us will have reason to celebrate, as our best days will certainly be ahead of us.

In this issue, we honor and remember 19 individuals who went before us and helped make the West Texas Rehab what it is today. In their lifetimes, they built and left an amazing legacy for all of us to follow. They almost certainly experienced tough times, faced adversity and were at times uncertain of their futures, and yet they persevered and came through stronger and more resilient because of the challenges they faced...valuable lessons that could help us shape a positive outlook and response to unknown challenges that lie ahead.

I want to personally thank our amazing employees, our Board of Directors, our medical directors, our donors, and our patients. Everyone has worked so closely together to create a positive team to help West Texas Rehab navigate its way through the recent Coronavirus scare and to position us for a successful future.

This team truly lives by faith in one another and the faith of a higher power: "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me." (Philippians 4:13, NASB).

As you read this issue, please know we are blessed to have you as a part of our West Texas Rehab family, and we hope this finds you well and moving positively through challenges you may be facing.

God bless you and keep you. ★

Steve

With Bob's passing last year, we are reminded of how Bob and Peggy Beckham have been such generous partners with West Texas Rehab, going back to the very beginnings with Shelley Smith. But even more than that, they have successfully passed that legacy of giving on to their children, each of whom plays a different role in helping to fulfill the mission of the Rehab. The Beckhams, Capras, the entire family are all wonderful examples of the Legacy of Love left by Bob, and so many others!

Proud Supporter of West Texas Rehabilitation Center

When it comes to the healing process AFTER you leave the care of a doctor or surgeon, the difficulty people have is finding the outpatient physical, occupational, and speech therapies they need, as well as meeting their orthotic, prosthetic, audiology and social services needs, when their finances and insurance company won't allow it. And how can they possibly afford the highest certified clinicians anywhere in the state, and always be guaranteed they see a licensed therapist or clinician, not an aide? Well they can't... unless they come to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center! Begun in 1953 by a community that saw the incredible need of children with cerebral palsy and polio, West Texas Rehab has grown into a mission encompassing three campuses in Abilene, San Angelo and Ozona. We've gone from treating 17 patients that first year, to caring for more than 650 adult and pediatric patients every day, each of whom has their own unique "Rehab Story." That's over 29,000 patients covering a service area larger than many states! Patients who, in many cases, were considered "un-treatable" by doctors and other clinics, and came to The Rehab and walked again; talked again; HOPED again! Patients like Hayzan and Riggan, two brothers both born with spina bifida that were told they would advance no further and could no longer receive treatment because their insurance company denied more appointments. They came to West Texas Rehab and both boys are not just advancing, but thriving!

Imagine a place where insurance companies are not in charge of your care because donors have made, and make, hope possible for all who enter our doors; a place where one of the first questions you'll hear is, "Are you going to need help in meeting the financial responsibility of your treatment?"

How much does all of this cost? Well, in 1953 it didn't take but $36,000 to run the West Texas Rehab Center. This year the cost of treating all of our patients will be almost $30 million, with about $7 million having to come from charitable sources and fundraising events. Yet, our 340 staff members, our board, and all of our more than 12,000 financial supporters (who are literally from all across the country), insist on having THE VERY BEST available to our patients. We make sure our patients from the neonatal unit to our hospice programs, and every period of life in between, who have been told they can't... we help them realize they can. I don't know of another place that does ALL we do, the WAY we do it.

Those are the facts about West Texas Rehab! ★

Getting or Giving: How will you be remembered?

“If I was gone tomorrow, how would I be missed?”

Now, that is a profound, legacy-asking question, isn’t it? We all have had, or will have, that moment when we ask ourselves those soul searching kinds of questions. Often it happens when we enter into the second half of our lives – when our nest is empty and life has had plenty of, well...Life! It’s only natural, and dare I say, good, that we ask those kinds of questions of ourselves. Keeps us grounded and focused on the things, people, programs, and missions that matter most. Focused on not what we get, but on what we GIVE.

Now, imagine what might happen if a company asked the same question. Well, in the fall of 2019, that’s exactly what happened.

First, let me give you a little background on this amazing, this giving company. Laredo Petroleum, Inc. is an oil and gas company based in Tulsa, OK, but has all of its operations in the Midland Basin. They were formed in 2006 and have been drilling wells in the Midland Basin since 2008, employing 280 people, 160 of whom are in the Midland area. They have drilled approximately 1,500 horizontal and vertical wells on their Midland Basin leasehold and produce more than 80,000 barrels of oil equivalent per day. Now, fast forward to fall, 2019 when Laredo’s president, Jason Piggott (became President and CEO in October), gathered the entire company together and asked the question: “If Laredo was gone tomorrow, how would we be missed?” You can imagine the wave of silence that fell over the room, and how humbling it was when they determined that Laredo would be missed more in the business community than in the overall community. That realization did not sit well with them! All of a sudden, Laredo and its 280 employees were faced with what can only be called a golden opportunity – an opportunity which carried with it such immense possibilities for change in the communities where Laredo operated that the energy in the room was palpable!

Immediately following their town hall meeting last October, Laredo began enhancing and promoting its charitable giving program. Each office location collectively chose organizations in their respective communities to support. Laredo’s first annual Charitable Giving Campaign was a huge success as employees raised more than $65,000! Additionally, Laredo matched all employee donations for a whopping $135,000 in total giving to these selected non-profit organizations! Then the big question was, where and to what non-profits are we going to give these funds? Well, it didn’t take long for the Garden City employees to come up with their non-profit. Yep, it was West Texas Rehab! They knew they were passionate about supporting an organization whose mission is to improve the quality of life for those in need of their services, regardless of their ability to pay. Jason felt that West Texas Rehabilitation Center’s locations in San Angelo, Ozona, and Abilene encompass Texas cities where our employees and families live. Their wide range of services, including occupational and physical therapy, family support services, audiology and hearing aid services, hospice care, and speech and language pathology, reach our communities on a regular basis. West Texas Rehab was the best organization to give for Laredo’s first giving campaign. Having West Texas Rehab in our community provides care and services which ultimately improves their quality of life. West Texas Rehab offers hope to our community and inspires us all.”

In Laredo’s words, “We are excited about this new partnership with WTRC and look forward to contributing our time and resources to an organization that positively impacts so many lives within our community.” In West Texas Rehab’s words, “We are just as excited, and are honored and overwhelmingly grateful for the friendship and support of Laredo and its wonderful and GIVING employees!” ★

Getting or Giving
How will you be remembered?

1] The thought that you do not need a will.

If you own assets such as life insurance, a residence, retirement accounts, stock or other property, a will could be very helpful to assure that your assets benefit the people and charities you wish. Failing to have a will often places great stress, anguish and unnecessary costs on those left behind; it’s like leaving a mess for someone else to clean up.

2] Thinking that the estate tax has been repealed.

The estate tax law has been changed significantly allowing a higher exemption than in years past. Even with the increased exemption the need for a will is as strong as ever.

3] Putting it off.

There are no good excuses, particularly if life changes or ends unexpectedly. There are NO good excuses for putting it off. None.

4] An overwhelming desire to write the will yourself or to copy another’s will.

A holographic (handwritten will) is valid in Texas, but it is a potential invitation to disaster. Chance for legal error, misinterpretation and contest by disgruntled heirs is great. What made someone else’s will so good, may be the same thing which makes it unsuitable for your circumstances. It’s in the details where the problems arise. Consult a qualified attorney.

5] Having a will prepared by an attorney not sufficiently versed in estate and probate law.

Few of us would ask or trust a podiatrist to perform brain surgery on the one we love the most. Because of their specialization in oil and gas lease work, an attorney may not have the training or experience to prepare a proper will for your circumstances. Seek someone well qualified, highly recommended and with whom you feel comfortable.

6] Buying a revocable living trust from a salesperson that comes to the door.

Often the cost is great – much higher than having your own attorney do the work – and their benefits are frequently exaggerated. Very few people need revocable living trusts instead of a will. Many sold are part of a scam. Ask for our article on the topic or contact the Better Business Bureau.

7] Feeling that you have to leave everything to the kids or treat all of them equally.

Leaving too much to heirs can damage them as much as a serious car wreck, sapping their ambition or encouraging irresponsible behavior. Treating two children equally, for example, may not be wise if one is a highly accomplished heart surgeon and another is a struggling missionary in Timbuktu. One of your children may be financially competent, while another is spendthrift in behavior and still another is disabled. Consider treating heirs fairly and lovingly, rather than equally. Equal is not always fair and fair is not always equal.

8] Thinking that all gifts should wait until death.

Many gifts bring so much more joy to donor and recipient when made during life. Some gifts to heirs or charity are much more beneficial to the donor when made during life than when made through a will.

9] Assuming that you are going to have to live the rest of your life as if you are going to run out of money.

Some people may run out of money, but far too many people have unrealistic fears of dying penniless. Surprisingly, these unrealistic fears cross all economic lines, from very modest to enormous estates. Often, some of the simplest planning can provide a wonderful sense of mind that brings richness and peace to the later years of life.

10] There’s only one way.

Good planning can offer very attractive options to increasing income, avoiding taxes, providing needed management, increasing the benefit to heirs and providing a sense of well being. Charitable giving options may be particularly helpful. ★

The Importance of Gifts through Wills to the Rehab.

The people of West Texas are more than generous during our annual telethon and other fundraising events. That amount, however, even coupled with insurance reimbursements, patient participation and other sources of funds, has never been enough to treat everyone seeking treatment at the Rehab. Bequests from wills have filled the gap. Quite literally, and in more ways than one might imagine, gifts received through wills have kept the doors open at the Rehab.

Gifts from wills have recently been used to help upgrade our facilities. They have been used to help us pay the costs of caring for those for whom the Rehab is their only source for treatment. And in those years when circumstances have allowed, gifts from wills have been set aside in an endowment which we now call the West Texas Rehabilitation Center Foundation.

Every month this year the Foundation will write a check to the Rehab for over $450,000 to help cover the costs of providing care, largely because our friends have included the work of the Rehab in their plans and our trustees have prudently managed those resources. Those funds come from earnings of the Foundation’s investments. In the years ahead, more people will seek treatment and fewer will have adequate insurance.

To assure that no one will ever be turned away due to an inability to pay, the Foundation must grow significantly over the coming years. Funds to make that possible will come from many different types of gifts, and those from wills will help determine our success.

We specialize in helping our friends find ways to help make wonderful things happen for West Texas Rehab. Whether through a will, a life income arrangement, or many other types of planned gifts, let us help you arrive at the best way to accomplish your goals. No cost, no obligation and confidential assistance is yours for the asking. ★

To assure that no one will ever be turned away the foundation must grow...

Jack Wenetschlaeger

The craftsmanship of Jack Wenetschlaeger’s work is on full display in his photograph album: wishing wells, a wishing well with a birdhouse, metal headboards and footboards, a secretary copied from one made in Germany, wooden yard art, tables, porches, sheds, fences – and afghans.

During the day, Jack – a creative, energetic 93 year old – still likes to work in a shop, where he makes wood and metal items that he donates to fundraising sales. At night he relaxes in his recliner and crochets “lapghans,” afghans made to cover the lap and legs of patients in wheelchairs. Jack estimates he has made 8-10 lapghans, which he has donated to patients of West Texas Rehab’s Hospice of San Angelo.

When asked how he learned to crochet, Jack tells how, because he was often sick as a child, he spent many days at home with his mother who taught him how to crochet washcloths from twine. Jack put crochet aside when he was a teenager and did not pick it up again until several years ago. When a friend showed him and his wife her crochet, he told them, “I did that when I was a kid.”

In the years since, Jack estimates that he and his wife Joan have made 300 afghans. Joan says they can tell their work apart because of the way Jack holds the yarn, making tighter stitches and smaller holes. Jack buys eight large skeins of yarn for each lapghan and then spends about two months making it.

Jack enjoys making things for others. The first lapghan he made was for a member of his church, who sat in the aisle in a wheelchair. He made an afghan especially for her in purple, her favorite color – wide and long enough to cover her feet and legs but not so big that it would drag on the floor. The lapghan was born! Jack still remembers how grateful she was and how she thanked him every Sunday she used it in church.

“Jack always had to work hard for everything he had, and he didn’t have time to volunteer,” Joan points out. “Oh, he was always busy helping neighbors, like mowing their yards, but he didn’t have time to volunteer. Jack doesn’t do anything for glory, but as we have gotten older, he has to have something to do.”

“If I can do something to help someone else, it makes me feel good,” Jack says.

Robert Brock, HOSA Community Liaison, has seen firsthand the excitement, tears, and love hospice patients feel when they get one of Jack’s lapghans. “Jack has been a blessing to HOSA, showing that your age doesn’t matter,” Robert says. “What’s in your heart to serve others is what matters.”

Jack’s story is an important one because it shows how one person’s talents and ingenuity can make life better for others in a tangible, sometimes unexpected, way. Jack’s lapghans – made by hands used in the work of 93 years – offer comfort and warmth and carry a message of love and caring. In a larger sense, his story illustrates how, if it is in a person’s heart to serve others, there is a way for each of us to bring our resources and abilities to the calling, no matter our age or circumstances.

It is a familiar, yet profound, West Texas Rehab story – one that we will never forget: WTRC is able to do what we do because neighbors reach out to neighbors. ★

LEGACY of LOVE WALL

est. March 27, 1994
LEGACY of LOVE WALL

West Texas Rehabilitation Center created its Legacy of Love Wall to perpetuate the memory of individuals whose love and generosity during their lifetime had an especially meaningful impact on the organization. On March 27, 1994 at the first Legacy of Love ceremony, 134 names were placed on the memorial wall. Since that time, a ceremony is held in the spring of each year to add names of special Rehab friends who have completed their earthly journey in the past 12 months.

During their lifetime, each honoree found his or her own unique niche to demonstrate an extraordinary commitment to West Texas Rehab’s mission. Some were volunteers. Many repeatedly made significant financial contributions to operations and/or capital improvements projects. Many served on the organization’s board of directors. Still others were longtime, dedicated employees. Some of these wonderful people served the organization in more than one of those roles.

Regardless of the difference in gifts they individually brought to West Texas Rehab, all of the people whose names appear on the Legacy of Love Wall have three things in common: (1) during their lifetimes, they contributed to the development of a highly respected, visionary organization; (2) they provided love, compassion, and support to patients and staff; (3) they set a standard for excellence in patient care and personal integrity that inspires everyone associated with West Texas Rehabilitation Center to seek ways to add their own amazing Legacy of Love.
