LEADERSHIP LETTER BY STEVE MARTIN, PRESIDENT & CEO

As I write this letter to you, Thanksgiving has passed, Christmas has come and gone, another new year has begun, and I am sitting in a deer blind in West Texas enjoying all of the beauty and splendor that the good Lord has created. The two places I feel closest to our creator is when I'm experiencing nature, and when I'm seeing the miracles that occur each day at West Texas Rehabilitation Center! God's work is done here every day through our outstanding clinicians for one purpose: to improve the lives of everyone who walks through our doors! Sometimes that occurs by helping patients make physical, communication or other functional gains to improve independence. At other times, it's when our Hospice team helps families say goodbye to a loved one who has successfully completed their "earthly" journey and is "moving home" to be with the Lord. All of this continues to happen even while so much uncertainty exists over the impact the Federal Government mandates could have on us. Just know we are doing all we can to balance compliance along with the best interests of West Texas Rehab and our valuable and dedicated employees.

It's at this time of year I find myself so thankful for all of our volunteers. Those who help us in Hospice, those who volunteer to support our events, and those who help lead our organization as board members and Trustees. Volunteers like our quilters whose support for the Telethon goes all the way back to 1977, have raised well over $1 million to benefit the patients at West Texas Rehab.

I am also so thankful for our donors who continue to make the decision to support this outstanding organization, our patients and our employees by their continued commitment of time, energy and financial resources. As we prepare to kick off our 52nd annual Telethon and our 69th year of service, I hope you will support those businesses and individuals throughout these pages who continue to support West Texas Rehab. I hope you will join us live at 7:00pm on January 22nd from the Abilene Convention Center.

Most importantly, this is the season when we celebrate the birth of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. We should all strive to find ways to be and feel closer to Him, be thankful for the gifts He has given us and know that He is in control and according to his plan we will continue to be blessed by His kindness.

I hope you had a Very Merry Christmas and a joyous holiday season! May God continue to bless our great country, West Texas Rehab Center, our patients and staff, and you and your families! ★

All my best to you,

HOSPICE SPOTLIGHT

Hearts Remembered

Hearts Remembered is a fundraiser Hospice of the Big Country holds each year during the month of February. This event helps fulfill the mission of West Texas Rehab Center and Hospice of the Big Country to provide the best possible end-of-life care to patients and families in Abilene and the 11 surrounding counties, regardless of ability to pay.

Hearts Remembered is a beautiful way to publicly honor or remember a special person in someone's life. For a donation of $10, the name of the honoree is written on a heart and placed on a display that will be set up at the Mall of Abilene during the month of February. Hospice of the Big Country staff and volunteers will be available each weekend during the month to assist those in purchasing hearts.

For questions or for more information on the Hearts Remembered event or hospice care, please call the Hospice of the Big Country office at 325-793-5450.

DOUG BLACK

Doug Black was a businessman and award-winning salesman before a stroke turned his world upside down January 5, 2021. He still misses those days of making sales presentations and giving people information to help them make good decisions. He says he “let the products sell themselves.”

When asked to make a sales pitch for West Texas Rehabilitation Center during this interview, he said, “Everyone is so nice.”

His wife Robin asked him if he would like to say something about how informed and intelligent everyone is. “It’s more than just informed and intelligent,” he said. “They are not there just because they get a paycheck. They put their heart into it. They are so cheerful and happy when they walk through the door.”

“No,” he continued. “I’d say ‘If you like to hang out with nice, exciting people, check out West Texas Rehab. Look to see if they are the kind of people you want to be like. Check it out – their niceness, their smile.’”

“You have to keep it simple. You pick one thing,” he said, “and hammer it into their brain – boom, boom, boom. You have to get them in the door.”

Doug walked through a door he could never have imagined before January 5, 2021. He had been a healthy, active man. It’s true he was overweight, but he had no family history of strokes. The stroke, which he describes as “nothing I had ever experienced,” destroyed cells in the left hemisphere of his brain and weakened the right side of his body. The first day he came to rehab, his right hand was useless, he could hardly walk, and he was struggling to get words out.

Waiting for Doug on the other side of the door that day were Dr. Mike Wicks, Ngozi Agwuenu, and Khristina Douglas. Doug describes Dr. Mike as a “hard-hitting” physical therapist, who had him doing “hard-core stuff like crunches and lunges.” Doug was relieved when Dr. Mike released him with a routine to continue at home. “We were able to leave PT with confidence,” Robin notes.

Doug still sees Khristina for Speech Therapy twice a week and has been going to Selena Elder for Occupational Therapy since July. He likes that they figure out ways to get things done. Both of them are tough and push him to make even more progress. When he leaves, they assign tasks for him to work on at home.

He spends three hours every day except Sunday on these tasks, with Robin by his side. He does stretching and strengthening exercises, he turns on the Bible DVD and reads the Bible aloud as the words flash across the TV screen, he practices pushing down on the keyboard of the piano to make sounds, and he sings because Khristina says singing makes him open his mouth. He practices closing his thumb and index finger when grasping objects Robin drops for him on the floor.

“It’s been a world of change for me,” he says. “It’s still messing with parts of me to see what I can do.”

Today he is doing things he wondered if he would be able to do again in January. The day before this interview, he walked around six big-box stores for the first time without using an electric cart. He leads a Bible Study at his church on Sunday, and he goes to speech and occupational therapy two days a week. Robin says, “It’s like his brain is waking up.”

There are still deficits, and Doug is working on them. He is eating and writing with his left hand while rehabilitating his right. And he keeps moving because he knows how important it is to keep his muscles and joints moving.

Doug looks forward to every day at West Texas Rehab. It’s a nice drive down and a nice drive back. He and Robin sing “This Little Light of Mine” and other children’s songs in the car to get him warmed up for speech therapy. And when they walk through the door at rehab, Selena and Khristina, cheerful and happy, are waiting.

If you ever need rehabilitation, we hope you will do as Doug did – walk through the door at West Texas Rehab, and give us a chance to sell ourselves as a pre-eminent rehabilitation facility. And, as Doug says, everyone is so nice.

A woman waiting for therapy said to her therapist, “You are my favorite person.” Doug is right. Coming to WTRC makes him happy. ★

“They put their heart into it...”

They are so cheerful and happy when they walk through the door.”

PACESETTERS NUTRITION COACHING

If you're looking for an effective way to improve your health, eat better, and finally get the body you want...This is your chance!

Nutrition is not a one size fits all approach. Hiring a nutrition coach is a form of self-care that allows you to be more present and prepared for the people in your life, your usual routines, and all that life might throw at you. Our Precision Nutrition certified coaches work with the general population to facilitate the inclusion of healthy eating behaviors and empower their clients to take responsibility for their own health. They are mentors and leaders who guide their clients toward a healthier lifestyle. As you work together, you and your coach will make adjustments to your calories and macros based on your individual body composition, hunger cues, activity levels, and any feedback given by you to find your ideal amount of food to live your best life.

We meet you where you currently are and work together to get where you want to be!

What else can my Nutrition Coach do?

Calculate an individual's caloric needs based on the information the client has provided and their specific goals (ex: fat loss, increased performance).

Calculate a macronutrient profile based on caloric needs, goals, food preferences, and exercise style. Make adjustments to caloric and macronutrient recommendations based on feedback from their client.

Teach clients how to read food labels, navigate grocery stores and recognize healthy and balanced portion sizes.

Help their clients to sift through all of the nutrition information available.

Discuss the pros and cons of various styles of eating to help their clients decide the best approach for them. Teach the benefits of certain food groups and macronutrients.

Collaborate with their clients to set realistic goals and expectations.

Help you build the lasting skills and habits necessary to look and feel better - for the long term. For life.

Most importantly, nutrition coaches provide a safe, honest, and judgment-free zone for their clients that will empower them to navigate the ebbs and flows of their unique nutrition journey. ★

The words on the wall at Warren CAT tell about the company’s mission and core values: Trust, Ethics, Diversity, Empowerment, and Teamwork. Their actions say more.

Warren CAT has been a friend and a supporter of West Texas Rehabilitation Center for many years. They first started by hiring the Rehab Employer Services Department to help with onboarding their work force.

They began making donations seven years ago when they first donated a generator to provide reliable power for the annual San Angelo dinner. They knew they were supporting a good cause, but it was a tour of the Rehab facilities in 2020 that made the Warren CAT team want to join the Rehab team in empowering others.

The Warren CAT team members saw professionalism and commitment on display that day while on the tour. But it was seeing the children in rehab, who reminded them of their own children, that tugged at their heartstrings.

When Christmas approached last year, Warren CAT team members asked West Texas Rehab to set up an Angel Tree at their office so they could empower Rehab families at Christmas. Graciously, Warren CAT (Corporate) also matched the San Angelo employees’ gifts dollar for dollar. During the 2020 Christmas season, Warren CAT gave gifts to Rehab families in excess of $4,000, and they are repeating their philanthropy in 2021.

Warren CAT was established by Johnny Warren in 1985 as the Cat® dealer for West Texas and Oklahoma. They are family-owned and committed to their communities, customers and employees, with rental equipment ranging from heavy machinery such as excavators and dozers, to smaller rentals like skid steers and telehandlers. Warren CAT Rental also has an extensive Rental Power fleet featuring light towers, generators, air compressors and more. With world-class products and service, Warren CAT is dedicated to building long-lasting customer relationships built on trust in order to be the Dealership of Choice in our region.

“The real story is how Warren CAT reached out to us, of all the non-profits in the area,” says Berkeley Puckitt, WTRC Director of Donor Relations.

“West Texas Rehab has the most wonderful people I’ve ever met,” says Taylor Hughes, Rental Operations Manager. “It’s not just a paycheck with them. They take care of kids, and they are really involved with their families. They give so much personal attention. They have a selfless interest in the whole process from beginning to end. There’s a kind of feeling Rehab gives us. We will jump over all obstacles to help.”

No one is too young to be on the Rehab team. Taylor and his wife, Kelsye, include their young son and daughter when shopping for the Angel Tree. “Sometimes adults don’t know what kind of toy to buy,” Taylor says. “I look at a toy and say to myself, This is too loud and the parents will hate the mess. And my children look at it and say, ‘Those little kids will love it!’ That’s when we know we have found the right gift.”
